

Train and Upskill Hotel Building Engineers with Hands-On 3D and VR Simulation Training

Effective, Efficient and Affordable

From costly, outdated training methods to a critical shortage of skilled workers, onboarding and managing a hotel maintenance team has never been harder. Interplay Learning's on-demand training platform can help you keep guests satisfied and safe while also helping you attract and retain the next generation of hotel building engineers.

- Broaden your candidate pool and reduce turnover with training designed to both upskill newer engineers and refresh experienced engineers
- Contain climbing costs through efficient, affordable training that builds a competent workforce in weeks, not years
- Give your team 24/7 access to field-like preventative maintenance and troubleshooting scenarios so you can avoid downtime and ensure room availability
- Deliver consistent, scalable training across locations and workers of all skill levels
- Cross-train in-house, so your team can service calls faster and keep your guests happy

Online Training for the Real World

With 300+ hours of expert-led training and hands-on simulations in HVAC, plumbing, facilities maintenance, and electrical, our online hotel maintenance training makes it easy to build a top crew of well-trained building engineers.

- Gain a clear understanding of the field-readiness of your staff with skill assessments
- Identify the skills gaps of your team before it's discovered through a callback
- Assign safety training to ensure your workers are protected in the field
- Utilize curated learning paths so your building engineers learn the right skills, in the right order
- Create career laddering programs designed to improve employee engagement and reduce turnover
- Track usage and progress with a full suite of measurement and engagement tools

Provide Consistent and Effective Training For All Skill Levels

Streamline Training and Improve Performance

With Interplay, you don't have to reinvent the wheel. We offer a comprehensive, scalable training solution customized to fit the needs of your entire hotel maintenance team.

You can seamlessly integrate our training into your existing LMS or use our learning platform to make assessing, training, and managing your training easier, faster, and better than ever before.

Deliver a Hands-On Experience From Anywhere

Online, on-demand learning means continuous workforce skills training – anytime, anywhere, on any device including VR. With Interplay, your team can practice in a safe, risk-free environment and gain the critical knowledge necessary to get the job done right the first time.

Learn Faster with 3D and VR Field-Like Simulations

Using 3D simulations and VR allows your building engineers to train faster because they have on-demand access to a wide variety of real-world scenarios that would require years to master. The immersive, game play elements in training also motivate new generations to learn and perform better.
